Japs Enter Nanking; Capital Is Doomed

Double Cross?—Let's Investigate

OPEN speculation on our own community as to the possibility of producing nearly 19 million bales of cotton on the acreage officially reported as being in cotton production, suggests to this writer the need of some official inquiry into the handling of federal soil payments.

If any local producers have planted and sold cotton on acreage which the government at the same time was paying them to divert officially to feedstuffs, this community would like to know about them.

Fraud writes its own ticket—and the possibility of fraud behind this 19-million-bale cotton crop should provoke some official discussion.

Private Medicine Protests "Co-op" Move in Capital

Government Subsidy May Cut Into Private
Practitioners

Doctors Fear They Will Get Only Cases of the Jobless

By PRESTON GROVER
Editor's Note: The question of government practicing medicine is coming to a head again in Washington. In the second of two articles Preston Grover tells you of one phase of the revolutionary tendencies in the practice of medicine.

WASHINGTON—All is not quiet on the Potomac since 1,000 employees of the Home Owners Loan Corporation formed a group medical association, hired five doctors to treat them and their families, and got a chunk of federal money to help out.

The association provides fairly complete medical and surgical services for its members and families, together with 21 days annual hospitalization, for a top cost of $3.50 a month, $30.00 a year. The idea is, of course, to get more doctors for less money.

The members say they will get more doctors.

Even frowning medical leaders here concede they will get it for less—and that is the source of much conflict as the association passes through its first month of existence.

First off, local physicians protested that the $40,000 contribution by the HOLC was an unauthorized federal contribution to "socialized medicine."

HOLC officials "replied" that sickness cost the Washington office $100,000 a year in lost time; if increased medical attention would reduce the loss, the cost would be offset.

Doctors See Threat
Second protest was that group medical practice would remove healthful competition among physicians and allow medicine to go stale, would attract only second rate physicians, would reduce physicians' income to a minimum and, in the end, would leave but the poor and jobless to be treated by doctors in private practice.

Physicians were particularly worried by a section of the group charter permitting extension of membership to all federal employees in Washington. (At present, membership is limited to the 2,000 HOLC employees.) The idea of 15,000 federal employees and their families—most of Washington—being swept into group medicine would make Washington a medical desert for private practitioners instead of the lush oasis that it is.

A Financial Squeeze
The association declines to say how much it is paying its five physicians, most of whom work full time in the group clinic. It can't be anything staggering.

The income from membership fees is about $2,800 a month. That would allow an average of $100 a month each for the five physicians, $100 a month for the seven nurses and technicians and a bare scratching of $100 a month for support of the clinic and rental of beds and surgicals in local hospitals.

The salaries must be smaller or the clinic must be a hospital expenses party or the association is coming into the $100,000 capital advanced by the HOLC to get it started.

Plan to Purchase
Railroad Is Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Texas, intervening in a proceeding before the Interstate Commerce Commission, said Tuesday many men would lose their jobs through the proposed acquisition of the Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas Railway by the Louisiana and Arkansas Railway.

The state contended the consolidation would cause removal from Greenville, Texas, to Shreveport, La., of the general offices of the L. A. and T., with a loss of $400,000 to the citizens of Greenville.

For the South and West are at this moment in a precarious position on the whole question of governmental aid to agriculture. The radical wing of organized labor is trying to force agriculture to support the wage & hour bill, with the threat that, unless such support is given, radical labor's representatives will block the farm bill.

We are handicapped in this fight by the bitter failure of the 1937 cotton control plan.

A 19-million-bale production in 1937 makes cotton control look very costly to the government for 1938—and makes it correspondingly easier for the labor bloc to threaten the senators and representatives of the cotton country for their refusal to support the wage & hour bill.

If the 19-million-bale crop of 1937 is an honest one, nothing can be done about it.

But if there has been fraud—then the fraudulent producers will stand convicted of double-crossing their fellow producers and neighbors.

And the whole system of government aid to agriculture might immediately collapse.

Blackburn Talks of Teachers' Fund

Retirement System Executive Explains Features Here

Clifford S. Blackburn of Little Rock, executive secretary of the Arkansas School Teachers' Retirement System, was the featured speaker at a meeting of the Hempstead County Schoolmasters club at Capital hotel Tuesday night.

Mr. Blackburn said: "The Arkansas State Teachers' Retirement System benefits all teachers, superintendents, principals, and supervisors from whom a teacher's certificate is required."

"Arkansas is one of 29 states to plan for security of teachers and it is not on the bottom of the list by any means. But because the annual salary average of teachers in Arkansas is so low, retirement allowance is necessarily low."

There are from 150 to 200 teachers in Arkansas who should retire next year.

"Any teacher who taught, or had 'leave of absence' from school board for 1937-38 is an in-service teacher and has until June 10, 1938 to join. All in-service teachers who do not join before June 10, 1938 will lose all their past service benefits. Teachers not in service in 1937-38, even though they have taught before, are classed as a new teacher and must join as of beginning of the school term of 1938-39—unless they actually began teaching at some date subsequent to the opening of the school term."

"Any teacher who is on leave of absence will not have to pay money into the fund—neither will the state pay any money into the fund for that period of time that he is out of service. Teachers may be given leave of absence for as long as three years without affecting their standing as members."

"Any teacher who stops teaching in Arkansas files a statement that he is leaving teaching, and will receive all money and interest that has been deposited by him but will not receive any of the state's contribution."

"The 4 per cent of the annual salary of the teacher is to be collected by the school board, who has full authority."

Japanese tanks were reported Thursday to have broken through the dogged Chinese defense in the bitterly contested battle of Nanking.

A Domei (Japanese) news agency dispatch said the tanks entered the southwest gate of the Chinese capital, prompting a Japanese prediction that the ancient city would fall by Friday.

At Peking, reliable sources told of the arrival of Wang Kehmin, veteran Chinese financier and statesman, around whom it was said a new autonomous government for North China would be formed.

Unlighted Wagons on Highway Prohibited by This Year's Law

Must Carry Light and Rear Reflector—Wagons Just as Liable to Law as Motor Cars Are

By the State Highway Department
In focusing the attention of the people of Arkansas upon the serious traffic accident situation, the State Safety Campaign being sponsored by the State Highway Commission during November and December has brought to light the reaction of motorists to the presence of unlighted wagons upon the highways at night. Drivers generally regard the unlighted wagon the most dangerous vehicle that goes on the road.

In a letter addressed to the Revenue Department, but which has been turned over to the State Police Department, one motorist complains that motor vehicles have been discriminated against as compared to wagons, and that every driver of a wagon on the road at night not equipped with lights should be arrested just as quickly as a driver of a car would be under like circumstances. This writer also complains of trucks parking on the road at night without displaying parking lights. Many motorists regard both of these practices as various accident hazards.

"Arkansas has one of the most up-to-date traffic laws of any state in this section of the nation," declared James R. Ryne, Director of Highways, "and these laws are amply covered, so far as their being required by law is concerned. As careless as people in Arkansas have been about these things in the past," he continued, "it naturally takes the State Police and local traffic officers some time to get owners to install or provide proper lighting equipment, but there is no doubt but that there would be fewer accidents if people would go ahead and install this safety equipment without delay."

Wagons operated on public highways at night must carry lights visible 500 feet to the front and rear. Under Act 399 of 1931 all wagons must also be equipped with an approved reflector on the rear. Trucks and all other commercial vehicles must also have reflectors on the rear. Vehicles parked along the highway at night are required to have parking lights burning visible both from front and rear. Other special lighting equipment is also required on trucks, and truck drivers report that these lights afford them a much greater margin of safety, as drivers of other vehicles can determine the size of the truck and give them much wider clearance. Motorists also state that it is easier to pass trucks when they have the proper clearance identification lights.

"It is special safety campaign will continue during the month of December, and plans are being made by many interested groups to give a great deal more attention to traffic safety during 1938 than has been done in the past. Lawbreakers believe this campaign will arouse people to the point where they will do something positive in the way of seeing that there is better traffic law enforcement. Many schools plan to greatly increase the time given to safety education."

Speaks at Texarkana
TEXARKANA—A brief address by Foy Hammons, coach of the Hope, Ark., high school football team, featured a full program of entertainment Wednesday that marked the annual "football luncheon" of the Texarkana Kiwanis club at Hotel McCortney.

Hammons characterized the factors of football—practice, co-operation and sacrifice—as necessary to a well rounded life in any line, and he declared that many of the high principles of fair play found their ways from football fields into business.

He emphasized the fact that football players worked as much as 15 hours a week practicing for one hour's play, and he speculated on the development of a business world in which business men gave as much thought to conducting their business.

"Football is a wonderful medium," Hammons said, "for it brings men and boys together, teaching the men that spirit of fun, hard play and fairness, and teaching the boys underlying principles which they can well adapt to business or professional life in later years."

The annual meeting attended by football players from both sides of the city as guests was characterized by a guessing contest for the players themselves. Prizes were donated by members of the Kiwanis club.

U. S. Purchase Is Asked for Cotton

Seek Level of 12 Cents—
Farm Income Up During
1937

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Senator Smith, South Carolina Democrat, announced Tuesday that a group of Southern senators would ask the government to purchase cotton in an effort to raise prices to 12 cents a pound.

The chairman of the senate agriculture committee said he would offer an amendment to the pending farm bill to require the Commodity Credit Corporation to buy cotton until the average market price reached 12 cents a pound on middling seven-eighths inch cotton.

Farm Income Gains
WASHINGTON. (AP)—The Bureau of Agricultural Economics estimated Thursday that the cash income of American farmers during the first 10 months of 1937 was approximately 751 million dollars above their income for the same period last year.

It estimated total income, including government payments, at 7 billion 87 million dollars this year, against 6 billion 336 million dollars last year.

For Arkansas the figures were: 100 million 567 thousand this year, and 79 million 163 thousand last year.

State Police and Highway Shakeup?

Arkansas Democrat Says
Albright and Rhyne
"Are to Go"

LITTLE ROCK. (AP)—The Arkansas Democrat said Thursday that the latest statehouse reports on Governor Bailey's reorganization of state departments dealt with the possibility of the removal of State Police Chief Gray Albright and his assistant, Bob LaFollette.

Albright said the reports were news to him, and that he had no knowledge of any proposed shakeup of his department.

Governor Bailey was still confined to his home by a kidney ailment, but his secretary, James L. Blain, said he knew nothing of any plan to reorganize the state police.

The Democrat said authoritative sources predicted that proposed changes in the highway department, believed to include the removal of Highway Director James R. Ryne, would not be forthcoming until at least December 15.

Court Removal Is Rapped by Delony

Washington's Mayor Attacks Proposal to Move
It to Hope

Editor The Star: Having previously noted your fairness in presenting both sides of any controversial question, I am asking a small amount of space in your paper to present the opinion of some of the property owners of the county, not only in the north end of the county as well, on the current issue of the courthouse removal from Washington to Hope.

On December 1st the Star printed a speech of R. P. Bowen, new secretary of the Hope Chamber of Commerce, in regard to the proposed removal.

Mr. Bowen, a citizen of Hempstead county of less than 30 days who has never paid a cent of taxes in Hempstead county, declared it would better serve the interest of the people of the county as a whole to move the courthouse to Hope. Mr. Bowen is asking you, Mr. Taxpayer, to sign a petition to put a new tax on your property—a tax that will be collected for more years than most of us will live. He is asking you to do this at a time when more than 1,700 people are on the delinquent tax list, and 1,645 tracts of land are on the delinquent tax list.

Can you in fairness to your fellow man say it would serve the best interest of these unfortunate people who could not pay the present taxes to put more taxes on them, for a new courthouse when we have a good courthouse in the center of the county, and it is paid for?

The way I see this, a new courthouse will require a bond issue and new taxes that I do not think the property owners can afford at this time.

Coldest of Year as Monday's Low of 16 Is Exceeded

Fair and Cold Again Fore-

NEW WAVE IS DUE

South Scheduled for Another Cold Wave Thursday Night

Winter's most frigid blast sent the mercury tumbling to a low temperature of 13 degrees early Thursday morning on the recording instruments of the Fruit & Truck Branch Experiment station.

The new low mark is three degrees under the previous seasonal minimum of 16 degrees which was recorded this past Monday.

Clear skies and sunshine brought slowly rising temperatures to this section Thursday.

The forecast for this area is: "Fair, continued cold Thursday night; Friday fair with slowly rising temperatures."

Another Is Coming
Atlanta, Ga. (AP)—A new cold wave moving from the Northwest brought threats of hard freezing weather Thursday for parts of the South and fears of additional damage to fruit and vegetable crops. Much of the nation was hit Wednesday by the worst storm of the winter.

Bitter cold dropped the temperature to 26 below zero at Casper, Wyo., and this mass of frigid air moved southward toward Texas. Zero temperatures prevailed from the Kansas-Nebraska boundary and most of Iowa northward, with 14 below zero at Williston, N. D. Snow and icy temperatures held many northern and central sections. Five persons have died in the South from freezing, or other causes attributed to the cold.

The forecast called for colder weather Wednesday night, Thursday night over most of the South. Rain or snow was predicted for the Carolinas, Tennessee, North Georgia and possibly Virginia, North, Mississippi and Alabama.

The worst December storm in 10 years brought nearly a foot of snow to Buffalo, a 47-mile-per-hour gale piled up high drifts and crippled traffic.

Pressure of melting snow, following a fall of nearly 30 inches, caused a break in the Paw Paw, Mich., hydroelectric dam, sweeping the $50,000 municipal power station into the Paw Paw river.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

TRAIN YOUR EYES TO SEE

Railroad yards may be sooty and ugly but the photographer who trains his eye and his pictorial sense can find beauty there—and in every other common thing.

HOW many of our Guild members, I wonder, go far afield searching for beauty, in the likeliest places, and do not find it, and cannot understand why?

It is an experience most camera workers have. But, sooner or later, if they are serious workers, they learn a basic principle: that is, that beauty is not so much in the subjects they find as in themselves and the way they look at things.

To put it another way: pictures do not exist in a scene but only in the trained eye that can select and single out that which is interesting and good.

Few persons beginning to use a camera would think of a railroad yard as a place to find beauty. But one photographer has become world-famous for pictures made just there.

He works when the air is crisp, when a locomotive's exhaust steam fume upward in a great white plume. This steam, contrasting with the black of the engine, forms a focal point in each of his pictures. He selects his viewpoint so that the rails, curving away from the locomotive, are highlighted in long, silvery white lines; lines so arranged that they form his picture's compositional framework. Wherever possible, he includes a framing of dark foliage to give his picture depth and he likes to work when there is mist or fog in the distance so that far-away buildings or figures are reduced to soft, dim outlines.

The objects this photographer works with are not appealing. They are dirty, sooty, ugly. But his pictures are beautiful because he has trained his eyes to see, to select, to arrange, to recognize mood and atmosphere—in brief, by the use of his creative imagination to extract beauty from ugliness.

There is magic in photography like this but it is magic open to all. It calls for no wizard's wand but only thought and feeling and the application of your imagination to commonplace things. Kitchen pots and pans are not pretty but I have seen pictures of a group of them, rhythmically arranged and lighted so their texture was emphasized, that were beautiful. Old shoes are not attractive but I have seen a picture of a pair wet and dripping beside an umbrella in a hall corner, so photographed that they contained all the essence of rainy Autumn.

Fellow Guild member, beauty is not over the next hilltop, down the next road—it is inside you. But you must train yourself to bring it out.

John van Guilder.

Rose Gardens
A number of Hempstead county rose gardens are being replanted this fall with new plants.

If the plants are received before their location has been selected or before the soil is prepared, it is best to dig a trench and bury the plant root, tops and all, according to P. T. Ecton, extension horticulturist, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture. This will keep the wood and buds plump and moist until the ground is suitable in the spring.

Directions for planting are given by Mr. Ecton. If the planting is to be done now, a spot which has sun at least half a day and more if possible should be selected. Roses will now do well in a wet location or near a building, the horticulturist cautions. Dig the hole and vase the soil to place in the bottom of the hole where the richest dirt is needed by the roots. If the spot is poorly drained, then some ashes or gravel may be placed in the bottom of the hole. Rose roots should have 18 inches of growing room below the surface both down and sideways.

Sink the plant in a bucket of water and then prune the roots by cutting the long roots back and tipping the short ones. They must not be crowded in the hole. Work the fine soil between the roots and pack tightly. When the hole is about three-quarters full, dump heavily and pour in plenty of water. Then add soil to slightly above the normal level, but do not pack. The bud or union, should be just below the surface. This is necessary because the more severe the pruning the greater the stimulation, Mr. Ecton points out.

Home Sewing
With most of the gardening and canning work over until the spring season, home demonstration club women in Hempstead county and turning their attention to sewing. Home sewing is easier and better when good equipment is available.

A ten cent tracing wheel which can be purchased at any notion counter, and a chalk tracing board, and other lines of darts, seams, and other pattern indications are made with the tracing wheel. The pattern is removed and the garment turned over on the board so that the chalk lines already marked to the other side can be traced. To transfer fittings from one half of the garment to the other, the same procedure is followed. The garment is folded and the fitting done on one side and traced on the other side.

Directions for making the tracing board are given by Miss Sue Marshall, extension specialist in clothing and household arts. A piece of beaver board or heavy cardboard about 28 inches long and 20 inches wide, two pieces of blue carpenter's chalk, a flat paint brush, and two thicknesses of mosquito netting are needed.

The chalk is crushed to a powder and mixed with cold water to make a thick paste. Two or three coats of paste are applied to the board, letting each one dry before applying the next. The cardboard must be weighted down while drying to prevent warping.

When the board has dried after the last coat of paste is applied, two thicknesses of mosquito netting are stretched over the board and glued to the under side. The net prevents the chalk from rubbing off or making the tracing too heavy, Miss Marshall points out.

Churchless Town Keeps Out of Debt

WALCOTT, Ia.—(P)—This town of 500 inhabitants is the only one in Iowa without a church and possibly the only town in the United States without a church building, congregation, church services or a minister.

More than 70 years ago a group of Germans who had left their homeland because of the confusion of religious faiths founded Walcott. Although they believed in God and continued in private worship, they did not build a church then nor has one ever been built here.

A few years ago a church in Davenport, 13 miles east of here, purchased a tract of land in Walcott and planned to build a branch church here. But they failed to get the support of the citizens and the project was abandoned.

Walcott boasts of having no public debt, no persons on relief and no vacant houses.

Takes This Gridder Six Weeks to Travel From "Sub" to All-America

Charles A. Sweeney, a Substitute Player, Replaces Captain of Notre Dame Team and Then Is Chosen an All-American

By the AP Feature Service

SOUTH BEND.—Put aside those Horatio Alger fables, you day dreamers, and listen to the story of Chuck Sweeney, who jumped from substitute to All-American in six weeks.

Once upon a time, when the football season began at Notre Dame, a husky Irishman named Charles A. Sweeney was a second-string end. The outlook for him wasn't too bright, for Captain Joe Zwers had the first-team job.

But, like all Irish lads, Sweeney kept plugging. He hit hard and true when given a chance, and lo and behold, it wasn't long before Chuck was on the field and the captain on the bench.

He got his opportunity, cashed in, and held on. Captain Zwers couldn't oust him.

Hungry Golfers Seek Miami Gold

Nation's Pros Gather at Coral Gables for Big Prize Money

By PAUL SIMMONS

AP Feature Service Writer

CORAL GABLES, Fla.—Golfers have to eat. They also lay out a pretty penny for that dapper toggery they wear, their shot-making equipment, transportation, hotel bills et cetera.

These are some of the reasons the sharpshooters turn Miamiward about this time of the year, the hard glint of pars and birdies in their eyes. There are a lot of square meals in the rich kitty Col. Henry L. Doherty dangles before them every year in the $10,000 Miami Biltmore open.

Colonel Doherty, president of the Florida Year-Round clubs, has been pretty good to the links brigade. All through the depression he kept up the big purses and in seven years has lined the pockets of the nation's pros with a total of $85,000 in prize money.

Guldahl Would Repeat

High in the list of those whetting their strokes to carve out hunks of the big purse December 10-13 are Ralph Guldahl, Horton Smith and Denny Shute.

Guldahl, the National Open champion, who carried away the $2,500 lion's share of the 1936 Miami Biltmore prize, is counting on this to be a repeater year.

Smith has dipped into the prize money distributed during the last six years to the extent of $4,425 and is out for more of the Miami golfing gold. He not only is the top money winner but holds the tournament record score with the 281 he shot to take first place in 1935.

Cooper Heads Gold Grabbers

Smith and Shute, the latter the P. G. A. champion the last two years, should be counted upon to make a battle for Guldahl in his title defense.

Others the defending champion fears particularly are "Lighthorse" Harry Cooper, leading money winner of the year to date with $14,000; Henry Picard; "Slammin' Sam" Snead, and Jimmy Thomson.

Guldahl is third in total winnings from the Miami Biltmore with $3,827 and Shute, fifth, with $3,460. Gene Sarazen is in second place with $4,393; Willie Masfarlane, fourth, with $3,508, and Paul Runyan, sixth, with $2,928.

The Washington naval agreement of 1924 limited the size of aircraft carriers to 27,000 tons.

Birthplace of George III to Be Apartment House

LONDON—(AP)—Norfolk House, town house of the Duke of Norfolk since the 17th century, is giving way to London's current craze for streamlined flats.

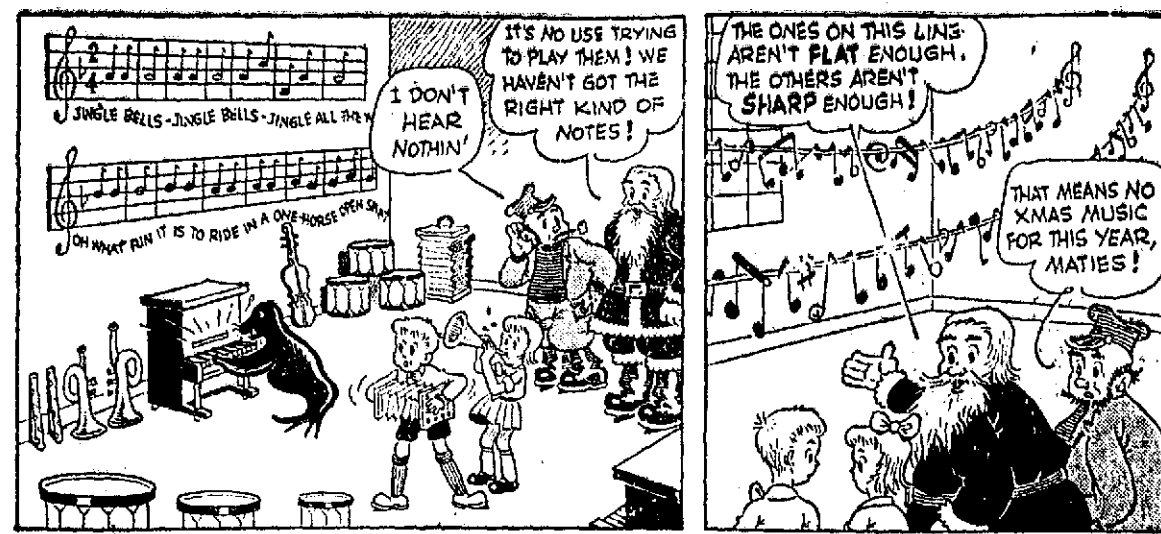

The present Duke of Norfolk, who has used the house only for coronation occasions as hereditary earl marshal, has sold the mansion to a firm of contractors. Modernistic apartments with curved glass windows and the best of what London calls central heating probably will take its place.

The price was not announced, but the Duke, in 1930 withdrew the house from auction when a bid of $1,250,000 was reached.

George III, against whom the American colonies revolted, was born in a back room of Norfolk House in June, 1738.

to collect this amount. Payments are made to the Executive Secretary of Teachers Retirement by the school board and the 4 per cent is deducted from the monthly check of warrant of the teacher. The state is to match this 4 per cent with the same amount.

"At this time it is thought that appropriation will be made by legislation in 1938 and that the money will have to come from the common school fund as there seems to be no other source from which it can come. However, it is hoped that this will not have to come from the common school fund. No retirement payments or disability will be paid before 1939. It is thought that payments will be available by that time.

"Disabled teachers may receive an annuity based on 1 1/2 per cent of average annual salary for ten years preceding, multiplied by the number of years of service; annuity to be figured on basis of actuarial estimates. Local district may supplement up to $800 annually. Ten years of service must have been in Arkansas, and five years of this immediately preceding retirement.

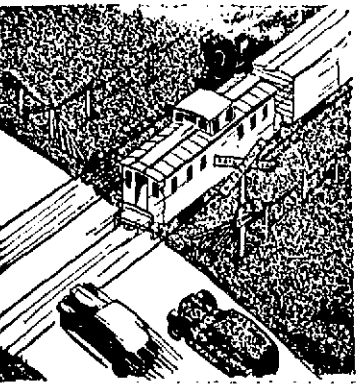

"Each teacher is to have a separate account which determines his annuity. Same system of bookkeeping is to be used that is used by the Social Security.

"The retirement funds are secured by the clause 'invested' in government securities or such securities as are the general obligations of the state of Arkansas. To be invested as it is collected. This money is deposited by teachers as individuals and cannot be diverted by any one person or group of persons for any reason other than teacher retirement.

"Upon the death of a teacher, his accumulated deposits are to be paid

Beware the "Crossing"

Motor car deaths at railroad-highway grade crossings were up again last year. Interstate Commerce Commission figures for the first eight months of 1937 show an increase of three per cent over 1936, when 1,325 persons died and 4,099 were injured.

Highway signs, warning bells, crossing gates, watchmen waving "STOP" signs, and the screaming of engine whistles, all combined, do not seem to be enough to stop some motorists. Many times they drive pell-mell into the sides of trains.

There is a safe way to pass every "crossing." At a single track, if the view in both directions is unobstructed, and if there is no law requiring a full stop, you may approach the rails at moderate speed, prepared to stop quickly. But if the view in either way is partly obscured (as many are), stop, look and listen; shift into second gear to pass over.

If several tracks are to be crossed, never drive upon them until you are sure the way is clear. Never come to any crossing at high speed; breaks do not always hold. And it is a good plan to shift into second gear before you start across any railroad tracks. If you kill your engine you may kill yourself.

to the nature and permanency of government policies, crippled by labor difficulties and handicapped by inability to secure sufficient funds from investors.

"What this country needs is business confidence. Business will move forward producing more goods, and therefore more jobs—if it is permitted to face the future with only the natural hazards of legitimate private competition.

Federal Regulation Opposed

While the wording of the platform was restricted to general terms and did not mention specific legislation, it asked:

"Freedom from federal control of prices, wages, and hours in manufacturing."

Calling for "fair" taxes and the limitation of governmental regulation to the "prevention of abuses inimical to the public interest," the platform continues:

"Individuals and corporations will invest savings only if a reasonable profit can be anticipated by so doing."

Industry, the platform said, is not opposed to change, per se, since "American industry believes in self-analysis. It welcomes change where change is desirable."

While apparently calling for modification of existing federal labor laws, the platform urges labor policies that will "provide for the free interchange of ideas between management and its employees on all matters of mutual interest, adequate opportunity for the consideration and adjustment of all complaints, maintenance of good working conditions, and fair wages to the work performed."

"Legal Co-Operation"

With respect to anti-monopoly laws, the manufacturers suggest the desirability of "co-operation with competitors within legal limits on a basis which will assist each unit in the industry to operate under high business standards and enable the industry as a whole to serve the public effectively and economically."

The platform sets forth an elaborate program for fighting depressions including resistance to price rises during periods of expansion, slashing of prices in periods of recession, leveling of seasonal employment variations, and avoidance of over-capitalization.

It is silent here on the most point of government spending as a depression measure, but elsewhere advocates balancing the federal budget now.

The platform opposes child labor and sweatshops, recommending state and federal laws to prohibit the first and state laws against the second.

The platform opposes also "policies which have the effect of redistributing existing wealth and income instead of endeavoring to produce more national wealth and income."

If industry's program is adopted, factories will prosper, the platform holds, and goes on:

"When factories prosper, the people move on to a higher and higher standard of living."

County 'Turnback'

United States Bureau of Public Roads. The matter will be brought before the annual meeting of the County Judges Association at Pine Bluff, December 16 and 17.

The United States Bureau of Public Roads has allocated $483,000 to Arkansas for the current fiscal year and $437,550 for the 1938-39 fiscal year for construction of secondary roads. The state has been unable to take advantage of these allocations because the 1937 legislature made no provisions for meeting the dollar-for-dollar matching requirement.

State Highway Director James R. Rhyme said counties might match dollar for dollar federal money for construction of secondary roads provided they put up at least 25 per cent of the total allotment which the United States Bureau of Public Roads has apportioned Arkansas during a fiscal year.

"This applies to county turnback funds as well as to any other county money," he said. "I have been trying to interest counties in putting up money to match federal funds but so far I have been unsuccessful. I am glad to see that the county judges are planning to bring the matter up at their annual meeting."

"One county might not be able to put up the more than $100,000 which would be required to match federal money for this purpose but several counties might very easily go together to put up the amount."

County turnback money for the entire state amounted to more than $500,000 last year. It accrues from one-half cent of the state gasoline tax.

The United States Bureau of Public Roads allotted Arkansas $437,550 for the 1938-39 fiscal year and approximately that much for the current fiscal year.

Mr. Rhyme said there was no way by which counties could put money to match regular federal aid funds.

"Did he try to catch the train?" asked the agent.

"He did catch it," she replied, "but it got away from him."

"Cup of Majesty" Given to King George

LONDON—(AP)—King George VI has accepted a golden "cup of majesty" symbolizing "the majesty and dignity of the throne" and illustrating the history of the British crown.

The royal crest surmounts the cover of the cup, and the coat of arms and the garter decorate the body. The position of handles is occupied by the supporting lion and unicorn, sculptured in flat relief.

On the reverse are the crown and the initials "G. R." and "E. R."

The cup stands on a Devon marble plinth carved in nine steps, representing the dynasties of the kings and queens of Britain since Saxon Egbert. The cup itself symbolizes the house of Windsor.

The period in which each dynasty occupied the throne is shown by a small gold plaque.

The cup is the work of Frank Dobson, a British sculptor. It is the gift of the Holyrood Amenity Trust, and will be kept at the Palace of Holyroodhouse in Scotland.

BERLIN—(AP)—Germany's beer tax netted the government $115,200,000 in the fiscal year 1936-37, reports The Anglist, organ of Dr. Joseph Goebbels, Propaganda minister. Germans consumed an average of 15 gallons per person.
